About CELASC

CELASC is a meeting not only of associations from Central and Eastern Europe, but also from other countries across Europe and beyond. Its common goal is to bring high-quality education to scientists, veterinarians, animal facility managers, caretakers, and everyone working with laboratory animals in the regions of the organizing associations, at relatively low registration fees for participants—thus increasing the accessibility of education and advancing knowledge in laboratory animal care.

This time, you can expect delegates from ARSAL (Romania), Balt-LASA (Baltic States), CLASA (Czech and Slovak Republics), CroLASA (Croatia), GALAS (Georgia), HLASA (Hungary), HSBLAS (Greece), ILAF (Israel), PolLASA (Poland), and SLAS (Slovenia), as well as from the European associations ESLAV (European Society of Laboratory Animal Veterinarians) and ECLAM (European College of Laboratory Animal Medicine).
